CLASS SONG

(Tune of Auld Lang Syne)

Oh Johnson High the time has come,
The years have swiftly flown,
With tears in heart we now depart,
As we go on alone.

Our teachers who have guided us,
And set us on our way,
We'll strive to make you proud of us,
Through all the coming days.

Through these bare halls we wander
now,
Without a thought in view.
The memories we take with us,
Shall always be of you.

And so dear Johnson now we part,
With sadness and a tear.
But evermore we shall remain,
The last class passing here.

Words by Nellie Moschetto and Lois Haigh

Dedication

From the Senior Class of 1954 go our deepest thanks to Mr. George F. Lee, teacher of biology and coach at Johnson High School, for his patience and understanding at all times.

THE GOBBLER staff of 1954 takes this opportunity to wish him continued success and happiness in his work ahead.

ALVAH G.
HAYES
Headmaster

MEMBERS OF THE CLASS OF 1954:

You have witnessed the end of an era, — the closing of Johnson as a high school. For eighty-eight years it has served our community well. It is a name which will disappear from our future records, but will remain in our hearts as a name of which we will always remain proud. Johnson is a name which has become well known in our colleges and respected on the playing fields. I am sure that you are happy to have been a part of it and I am certain that you will say many times in future years, "I was in the last class that graduated from Johnson High School". And you will say it with a feeling of pride.

As you leave Johnson, I would like to offer some advice. Don't think that your education is at an end. It should never end. Many of you have made your plans for your life work. If you have thought these plans out seriously, stick to them with determination. The way may not be easy but the rewards will be worthy of the effort.

Some of you have not as yet made your plans. If you are in this group, remember that it is not too late, but immediate consideration is necessary. We have tried to offer you guidance and advice but you must make the decisions. It is your future. What will you be doing ten years from now? No one knows, but this much is certain. What you have done in the past and what you do during the next four or five years will shape your life for the following forty years. Isn't this worthy of your serious thought?

To all of you may I suggest that you make use of the teachings we have offered you? Be good citizens of your community; be tolerant of the rights and beliefs of others; exercise your privilege of voting; be wise consumers; maintain respect for the laws of our community, state and nation; have faith in the American way of life and, above all, have reverence for your respective churches. If you will remember these teachings, Johnson will always be as proud of you as you are of it. With this parting thought, then, I extend to all of you my most sincere wishes for your future happiness and success.

GRADUATION . . .

1954 PROM

1954 PLAY

As we, the Class of 1954, look back over our eventful four years, we recall that bright, September morning when we made our first acquaintance with Johnson. After a brief talk by Mr. Hayes, in which he gave us our first introduction to the faculty, we found we were on our own.

Our first "dabble in politics" was the election of class officers. We chose the following people: George Acciard — president; Bruce Burnham — vice-president; and Ann Bullock — secretary-treasurer. They also represented us in the Student Council.

One new student was added to our class during our first year; Miss Janet Nichol, who came to us from Lawrence.

In our freshman year, the Brooks-Johnson scholarship was established enabling two boys to transfer to Brooks School. The two winners were John Livesey and Robert MacMurray.

To get off on the right foot, we conducted, in co-operation with the senior class, a Freshman-Senior Dance on November 10, 1950. Its purpose was to acquaint us with our many schoolmates, and to raise funds for our new treasury.

We had many enjoyable assemblies. One of the most interesting gave us a formal introduction to the United Nations. This was held under the capable leadership of Miss Veva Chapman.

Having survived the hardships and trials of our freshman year, we were ready to continue on to our second year at J. H. S. Richer in knowledge and confidence, we began to become busier in school activities. In the class elections Viddie Knightly was chosen president; Ronnie Fountain, vice-president; and Ann Bullock was re-elected as secretary-treasurer of our class.

Two additional members joined our class in the sophomore year. Mary Ann Bootman came to us from Lawrence High, and Roger Lawson from Gloucester. They proved to be valuable additions to our class, and became very popular classmates.

Along with the juniors, we conducted a very successful Sophomore-Junior Dance. Also, through the combined efforts of the whole class, we were very successful in the sale of tickets for the annual school play.

Two very enjoyable assemblies were conducted. The first was held on November 26, 1951. Chief Needahbaheh demonstrated methods of calling geese, crows, and other animals. This was followed by a demonstration of the correct way of fishing. To conclude the program, Chief Needahbaheh and Viddie Knightly performed a spectacular Indian dance.

On December 17, 1951, Mr. Bert Hill, a representative of the J. W. Robinson Company, presented the school with the Driver Training Car. Mr. Donovan, the driver-training instructor, accepted the keys on behalf of the school. Brief talks on safe driving were given by Mr. Banfanti, assistant to Rudolph King, Registrar of Motor Vehicles, and James Keefe, representative of the American Automobile Association.

Before we realized it, we had come to the end of another year and were ready to depart for our summer vacation.

Returning to Johnson in September, we now bore the title of juniors, which meant that we were rated as "upper-classmen." This year, as juniors, we elected our class leaders. Viddie Knightly was chosen once more to take the lead as president. Ronnie Fountain also was returned to the office of vice-president, and Ann Bullock became for her third year secretary-treasurer.

We were most happy to welcome many new additions to our class that year. They were Pat Knowlton from Danvers High School, Jean McIntosh and Catherine Dineen from Lawrence High School, and Phil Coates from Punchard High School.

On November 3, 1952, Johnson High School held an election. At this election we were to vote for president, vice-president, governor, and senator. It proved very interesting to note how the elections turned out. This election gave us an idea as to how the older people would vote.

While we were juniors, a distinct change from last year's routine was noted. No more did we have either a "before" or "after lunch study period." Now we had classes during first or second recess. New classes were also added. Speech, music, art appreciation, and consumer education were only a few. Many changes and additions had been made, and perhaps the things that were most widely missed were the recess activities. The new system seemed to be more efficient and the day passed much faster.

We welcomed a new member to the faculty, Mr. Reed Taylor, whose versatility enabled him to teach not only speech but also world history and consumer education, and to instruct the students once a week in speech work in the junior and senior English classes. Mr. Taylor soon proved to be a well-liked and competent teacher.

HISTORY

During the year we had a class meeting and chose Loring Studio as our class photographer for next year. We also had the joy of selecting our class rings.

On January 20, 1953, the office arranged to have three television sets installed so the pupils of Johnson High could witness the inaugural ceremonies. A set was installed in the auditorium for the benefit of the juniors and seniors; the sophomores viewed the program in Room 18, while a set was installed in the cafeteria for the freshman. The program was enjoyed by all the students.

Our Sophomore-Junior Dance was held on February 27, 1953. It was a guest list dance with music by George Emmons. The dance, although successful, did not have the crowd anticipated as a Johnson-Punchard basketball game conflicted with it; but a good time was had by all who attended.

Try-outs for the annual school play were held and we were proud to have a junior, Ina Thomson, get the girl's lead. Some other juniors who had leading parts in the play were Susan Hearty, Edie Bamford, Nancy Burke, Fred Wilson, and Bruce Hamilton. The play was held on April 23 and 24 and was a huge success.

After many class meetings, the juniors and seniors had a joint meeting to choose the place for the annual prom which was held on June 5. We voted for the Crystal Ballroom. Herbie Wayne was selected, by the Prom Committee, to provide the music. Those serving on the Committee were our class officers: Viddie Knightly, Ronnie Fountain, Ann Bullock; and to serve along with them the class members selected Kenny Long, Carol Long, and Kitty Driscoll. The Junior-Senior Prom was an event to be remembered for many years to come.

The end of another school year had soon crept on us, and summer proved to be the stepping stone that led our class into its senior year.

Our senior year at Johnson was full of activity. As usual, elections were held in September. Bruce Hamilton was chosen president, Chuck Turner as vice-president, and Ann Bullock as secretary-treasurer. A new member was added to our class — Priscilla Avery. Pris came from Vermont, and proved an excellent classmate. One new addition to our teaching staff that year was Miss Harriet Dunham. She taught problems of democracy, physical education, and health. She also coached our girls' basketball team. Mr. Harwood Steele was another addition to our staff. He was in the commercial department and taught typing, consumer education, and junior business training.

The first social event of the year was the dance sponsored by the freshman and senior classes. The dance was a huge success. On November 11, a "Dungaree Hop" was held by the seniors. The purpose was to aid the seniors to raise enough money to help pay for the annual class picnic and prom.

Our last year in Johnson, we finally realized a long-time ambition of our school. At last we had a school band, and one to be proud of. The band attended our home games and put on a fine performance. At the close of the football season, the annual Football Banquet was held in the Town Hall. It proved to be a fine evening of entertainment.

Once again in January, we had the pleasure of witnessing the president's annual message to Congress on television. The sets were installed throughout the school.

Another big dance was held on December 30 to raise money for our treasury. The Ricochets, a senior club for girls, sponsored a "Mistletoe Hop" and gave $200.00 to our senior class. This gave our class treasury a mighty boost.

Our senior class elected Jack Slipkowsky as our "Good Government Day" candidate. He was to go to Boston to represent our school.

Many class meetings were called, as we had various issues to be decided. We dedicated our year book to Mr. Lee, chose our class colors, selected our class motto, and Mr. Hayes announced the class honors.

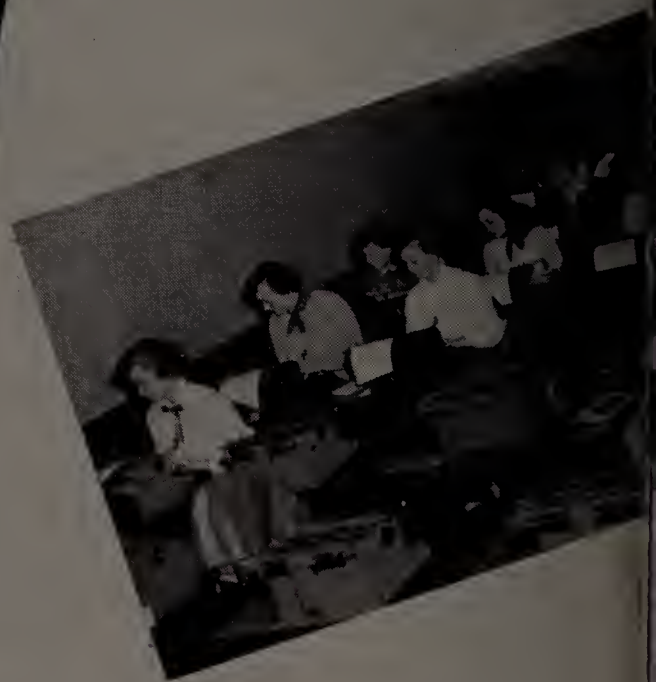

This year the Johnson High School play was "Curtain Going Up." The majority of parts were held by seniors. The play was a definite success.

The annual prom was somewhat changed in our senior year. We had a special banquet, held in the Andover Country Club, immediately after the prom. Along with our class officers, three more seniors were chosen to serve on the Prom Committee. They were Kitty Driscoll, Carol Long, and Jack Slipkowsky. Later Martha Cavallaro, Beverlee Thomson and Susan Hearty were added to their number.

As we neared graduation, everything was just as confusing as when we were freshmen. Every study period was used to exchange pictures, and every spare moment was filled with thoughts and plans of the prom and graduation. The prom, the class picnic, and those last flurried days of school will live forever in our hearts. Let us never forget those happy school days that we have shared together.

CLASSES

The year was 1964 and, as we boarded the train, whom should we meet but Joe Abbott who told us that he was going back to North Andover for the tenth reunion of Johnson High's class of 1954. Joe told us that he was now business manager for the "New York Times" and his private secretary was none other than Kay Himber.

At the next stop a very distinguished looking naval officer came into our coach. We were very surprised to see that he was Victor DeMario. Victor told us that he was a captain and had been stationed at a base where Jacquelyn Donnelly and Rose Enaire were lieutenants in the Waves. We were thrilled to hear all about our old classmates and, before we realized it, we were home in North Andover.

As we entered the modern train station, we ran into Bob Gravel selling tickets. Bob told us that he managed the station and his hard-working assistant was Larry Holleran.

We decided to take the new jet-propelled subway to the high school. The subway was called the L.L.L. Company after its inventors, Roger Lawson, Kenny Long, and Normie Lundquist. Once aboard, we noticed that Peter Casale was the driver.

After a hectic ride we emerged safe and sound to meet Ray Roberts, handsomely dressed in the police chief's uniform.

Ray had just sold some tickets to the Policemen's Ball to Nellie Moschetto. Nellie was now a big-name, musical-comedy star, and was driving a gold-plated Lincoln. She had just finished co-starring in a show with Chuck Turner, who was in great demand on Broadway and in Hollywood.

Walking down Main Street, we noticed a new town building. The dedication on it was, "In honor of Robert Janusz, President of the North Andover First National Bank."

We were very surprised to meet Donald Foulds and Dave Knightly. We were happy to learn that they were our new selectmen.

They told us Jack Slipkowsky had just opened a new nightclub called "The Mambo Room." They said that Scotty's Sextette was performing there with the dynamic singing trio of Barb Wainwright, Marty Cavallaro, and Dick Kennedy.

Noticing that the time was late, we hurried on to school. As we were entering, we met Edie Bamford, now the physical education instructor at the University of Maine.

Ann Bullock soon appeared and was happy to tell us that she was a physical therapist at Dr. Donald Slipp's Medical Clinic. She also said that Pat Daley, Pat Elander, and Josie Luzzio were all nurses at the clinic.

As we made our way down the long corridor, we saw Jeannette Houghton in Principal Ronnie Fountain's office. Jeannette was busily performing her secretarial duties. She told us that Coach George Acciard and his assistant, Bill Smith, had an excellent team. It had just won the state championship from Coach Ray Watts' Punchard eleven.

Dot Sutcliffe and Joan Waddington were now the French and Latin teachers, and none other than "Dangerous Dan McLaughlin" was the head of the mathematics dept.

Jacquelyn Finn, the girls' coach, told us that she had seen an advertisement announcing the opening of Madeline Doherty's Model Agency. Some of her top models included Kitty Driscoll, Lois Haigh, and Carol Long.

A few minutes later we met Mary Keane and Pat Knowlton, the school nurses, using the electric ear testing machine invented by Clint Hollins.

They told us that Betty Beletsky and Joyce Cuddy were running their own millinery salon and featuring the creations of Julie Gillick, a famous hat designer.

PROPHECY

We noticed a truck parked in front of the school. The words on it were, "Rolf Carlson, Deluxe Florist." The driver was Francis Stewart, who told us that Carolyn Gulanowski made all the beautiful flower arrangements.

He said that he was delivering some flowers to Sally Hassey and Jean McIntosh, who had just returned from a European lecture tour on the very educational subject of "How To Marry A Millionaire."

We met John Kilcourse, county agricultural agent. John showed us a paper in which Phil Coates' picture appeared. Phil had just broken the sound barrier in his latest V-12 "Coatesmobile." He was being congratulated by Congresswoman Ina Thomson.

This paper was a special edition put out by Joe Smith and Al Klufts, co-editors of the local newspaper.

We read in Lois Broderick's gossip column that Bev Morley was engaged to a wealthy French nobleman.

Deciding it was time to leave, we went to look at the new modern homes being built by Ted Lavallee. At the scene of the construction we met Bev Thomson, now a famous interior decorator. Bev and her assistant, Barb Paradis, had the assignment of decorating all the model homes.

Once again on our way, we passed a super deluxe auto body repair shop. The greasy mechanic in the even greasier overalls was "Mort" Lynch. At that moment Freddie Wilson, the owner of the shop, appeared.

Freddie told us that Josie Messina was running her own taxi service. Two of her most proficient drivers were Kay Dineen and Millie Rose.

Having a few hours before train time, we decided to go to the "R. K. Taylor Playhouse." Kyle Roberts, the actress appearing there, looked familiar, so we went backstage to meet her. We were startled to find that she was none other than Mary Ann Bootman.

Also present in her dressing room were her hair stylist, Pris Avery, and her makeup man, Ken Roebuck.

Leaving the theater we bumped into Al Chadwick, the manager, who told us that "Dick Neal's Vanities" were scheduled to open there the next week. Two of his leading ladies were Mary Love and Rosalie Howard.

We returned to the station to catch our train. Once aboard we met Ricky Cranston, who had just won the Pulitzer Prize for his latest novel "Men of Courage" or, "Another Redskin Bit the Dust."

Ricky told us that Dave Lane was the new United States Ambassador to Paris. Ooooh la, la!

When we arrived at the North Station we went to the Boston Garden to watch the Celtics play. We were thrilled to see them win under the expert leadership of star forward, Bruce Hamilton.

Having seen or heard all about our friends we continued our trip home, looking forward to the next reunion when we might again visit dear old North Andover.

CLASS

We, the class of nineteen hundred and fifty-four, being of sound mind and body, do hereby bestow upon the worthy class of nineteen hundred and fifty-five all our talents and abilities.

Don Slipp and Richard Neal will their combined French vocabulary to Robert Boutilier and Richard Nicosia. Put it to good use, boys.

Kitty Driscoll is glad to bestow upon Joan Boyle her job as Miss Gillen's private secretary. How's the pay, Kitty?

Dick Kennedy and Scotty Slipkowsky leave their long walks before baseball practice to Walt Stamp. Be careful you're not late, Walt.

Ray Giglio should be very glad to accept Ted Lavallee's great fishing skill. What are you going fishing for, Ray?

Gerry Smith would be more than willing to receive from Phil Coates, Bob Dehullu, Clint Hollins, and Dave Lane their rides to Howard Johnson's after the dances. Be sure you don't go anywhere else, Gerry.

Kay Himber leaves to Barbara Driscoll her "Gift of Gab." Put it to good use, Barb.

Ann Bullock bequeaths her friendly "Hi" to Gerry Forgetta. You sure are lucky, Gerry.

Larry Holleran leaves his title of seniority (The Best Hunter in the Back Woods) to Allan Mitchell. Are you sure there are bears out there, Larry?

Jeannette Houghton wills her willingness to work to Ann Crawford.

Barbara Paradis leaves her quiet, ladylike ways to Ruth Fessenden. Use them well, Ruth.

Bobby Holleran is presented with Viddie Knightly's bookkeeping ability, even though he doesn't need it.

Dan McLaughlin leaves his expert basketball playing to Fran Gillick. Not that Fran needs it.

Jean McIntosh bequeaths her pep and cuteness to Maureen Smith. Now you'll have plenty to spare, Maureen.

Joyce Cuddy donates her car to Jeanne Giard, providing she's careful.

Julie Gillick transfers her cheerful personality to Ruth Wallwork. Put it to good use, Ruth.

Betty Beletsky leaves her trips to Andover to Danny Doiron. Don't forget us and spend too much time there, Danny.

Ronnie Fountain leaves his bug for ice skating and football to Dick Killen. Use it well, Dick.

To Corinne Smith goes Ina Thomson's unlimited energy. You'll need it to be able to cheer for North Andover High School next year.

Barbara Wainwright leaves her latest book "How To Hold A Man" to Pris Marrs. I bet Pris has got a few tricks of her own.

For Larry Coreoran and Chuck Kettinger to share, Kenny Long donates the fun he's had in school. Remember English 4-3, Ken.

Mary Ann Bootman leaves her job as duster and attendance-taker in Room 18 to Janet Haight. Do a good job, Janet.

Peter Casale leaves his quiet but deceiving ways to Ernie Harvey.

Martha Cavallaro bestows upon Helen Mooradkanian her creative ability and her love for baseball. You're a lucky girl, Helen.

Ray Roberts and Francis Stewart leave all their knowledge of cars to Bob Wilcox and Jack McDowell. Now you'll surely be tops in the car field, kids.

To Dot Hoessler goes Bev Thomson's endless wardrobe. Now you'll have something different for every day of the year, Dot.

To Bob Kellan goes Vic DeMario's famous jitterbugging. Added to your own style, Bob, you're sure to go places.

Mary Keane bestows upon Gail Ambiehl her quiet but pleasing personality.

Kenny Roebuck leaves his "school days" to all the Juniors. Make them all count, kids.

To Ann Doherty goes Nellie Moschetto's petite charm. Remember, Ann, "Good Things Come in Small Packages".

Carolyn Gulanowski leaves her wit and friendly smile to Elsie Thomas.

WILL

To Maureen Cushing goes Pat Elander's great love for fun. You'll certainly have fun now, Maureen.

Dot Sutcliffe leaves her wonderful personality and friendliness to Pat Dineen. How lucky can you get!

To Skip DeMario goes Don Foulds variety of nicknames. Think you can manage them, Skip?

Lois Haigh leaves her million and one ways to wear a neckerchief to Helen Marie McCarthy. You'll never run out of ideas now, Helen Marie.

To Ida Mammino go Lois Broderick's sparkling eyes. She'll know what to do with them.

George Acciardi sadly relinquishes his own inimitable style of dancing to Bill Salemme. Think you can handle it, Bill?

Pat O'Neill inherits from Sally Hassey all her dry wit, which delighted us all the time.

Joe Abbott leaves his ability to keep quiet in Problems to Don Elliot. A few more of us wish we had it.

Roberta Bamford is the lucky recipient of Milly Rose's originality . . . Roberta is certain to make use of it.

Dutchie Carlson wills to Hiram Connell his car (?). Now you've got two, Hiram.

Edie Bamford and Jackie Finn leave their ability on the basketball court to Rosemary Cashman. Added to your own, you'll really be terrific.

To Richard Cole goes Allan Chadwick's quiet, friendly manner.

Dave Hallsworth gladly accepts Ricky Cranston's famous laugh. What's so funny, Ricky?

Marilyn Smith and Ann Farley are glad to accept Rosalie Howard's personality plus.

Roger Lawson and Freddy Wilson begrudgingly leave their "way with the girls" to Ron Noone.

Bev Morley and Mary Love are glad to bestow upon Dawn Pavledakes, Carolyn Hawkes, and Dot Weingart their heated discussions in history. Just keep calm, kids.

To John Glennie go Bob Gravel's quiet ways. Speak up, John, and you're sure to succeed.

Jackie Donnelly bestows upon Sally Zahn and Norman Ackroyd all the periods she spent in the caf. Did you really work hard, Jackie?

Bruce Hamilton, Normie Lundquist, Art Lynch and Billy Smith leave all the time they spent in front of a certain drug store to Dan Greco and Art Coppeta. What do you do there, anyway?

Maddy Doherty and Josie Luzzio leave their friendly smile for everyone to Joan Valliere.

Kenny Rapacz is glad to accept Al Klufts' ability to stay out of trouble, especially in Problems 4-3.

To Lorraine Kozdras goes Rose Mary Enaire's ability to slide into her homeroom seat after the bell has rung and get away with it.

Maryann Tymvakiewiz is glad to accept from Kay Dineen her height. How short are you, Kay?

To Ray Maynard goes Chuck Turner's and Ray Watt's athletic ability. You'll really be a star now, Ray.

Joan Tanski and Jane Sargent gladly accept Priscilla Avery's and Sue Hearty's lasting friendship. Take good care of it, kids.

Barbara and Terry Hamel are glad to receive Joan Waddington's quiet ways. Remember, kids, never talk above a whisper.

Bob Janusz and Jack Kilecourse leave their ability to get in and out of trouble to Bob MacArthur.

Josie Messina leaves to Irene Lomazzo and Kay Mellian her long rides in her nice car. Be careful, kids.

Jean Moran and Dianne Reidel are very glad to accept Carol Long's personality and popularity.

Joe Smith leaves all the good times he had in the caf to Roland Russell. I bet Roland has a few stories he could tell too.

Pat Knowlton leaves to Marjorie Kay and Peggy Macklin her ability to make friends so easily and quickly.

Having bestowed upon the Juniors all we possess, we hereby close.

Respectfully submitted,

Kitty and Viddie

Cheerleaders

The cheerleaders for the last class of Johnson High School were co-captains Madeline Doherty and Beverlee Thomson, assisted by Nellie Moschetto, Ina Thomson, Kitty Driscoll, Maureen Smith, Ann Doherty, Barbara Driscoll, and Corinne Smith, plus the new addition of a fine mascot, little Martha Dushame. They all did a swell job.

We would like to wish the best of luck to next year's group, to be known as the "North Andover High School Cheerleaders."

Girls'
Basketball
Team

As the captain of the last Johnson High Team, the girls picked Edith-anne Bamford. The squad consisted of Captain Edith Bamford, Ina Thomson, Kitty Driscoll, Millie Rose, Carol Long, Jean McIntosh, Josie Luzzio, Jackie Finn, Lois Broderick, Priscilla Marrs, Maureen Smith, Ida Mammino, Elsie Thomas, Roberta Bamford, and Jeanne Giard.

The team was coached by Miss Harriet Dunham. The managers were Lois Haigh and Ann Bullock.

The team won only two games this season, but enjoyed a big triumph by its victory over our traditional rival, Punchard.

The Johnson football team of 1953 was a hard-fighting one on the gridiron, although its record showed one victory and seven losses. Clean, hard football, combined with vital teamwork, made Johnson very proud of its team.

Congratulations to captains-elect Kettinger and Hallsworth. We know they will have a fine team next year.

Johnson's cagers wound up their season with an impressive mark of five wins and seven setbacks. Hampered by a small court and a lack of tall players, the Red and Black, nevertheless, gave a creditable account of themselves.

With the new gymnasium, Johnson will be able to compete in the Little Threc Series on its own court. We wish the team the best of luck for the coming year.

Johnson High School's baseball team, the last organized athletic team to bear the name of "Johnson", has, at the time we go to press, an excellent record of eleven wins and one defeat. Throughout each contest, the players have shown fine teamwork and excellent team spirit, combined with terrific defensive and offensive strategy.

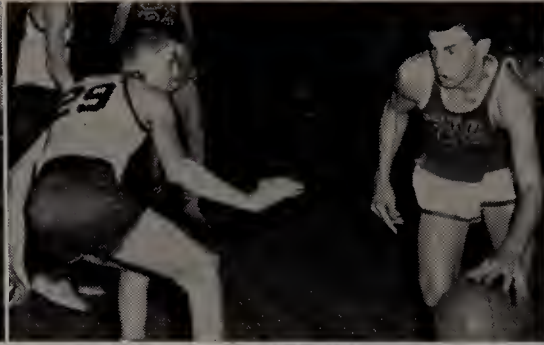

We wish our baseball team the best of luck for continued success throughout the remainder of the season.

New members, inducted into the Society after this picture was taken, included sophomores Joan McDuffie, Bernice Florin, and Nancy Pendlebury, and senior Robert Dehullu.

During the year several committees were formed to benefit Johnson High.

Members of the society volunteered to help those underclassmen who were having difficulty in their studies.

It was also decided to issue library passes to Honor Society members under the same conditions as in previous years.

A committee was formed to try to correct the crowded and noisy conditions which accompany the changing of classes.

Band

We wish to thank all the members of our school band and Mr. Clarence Mosher, their very capable director, for the fine inspiration which they afforded us at our school football games. Dressed in their snappy, new red and black uniforms, with Jackie Finn acting as majorette, they made a distinctive appearance on the field as well as supplying added vigor to our cheering section.

The several concerts which they put on for the benefit of the high school and townspeople throughout the year were also enthusiastically received and well-supported.

The band was ably represented at the Mass. All-State Band Festival this year as in former years.

We wish the band continued success throughout the following year.

REMEMBER

JUNIORS

The juniors re-elected the following as their class officers:

President		Laurence Corcoran
Vice-President		Maureen Smith
Secretary-Treasurer		Elsie Thomas

The juniors were very successful in their money-making project of selling "Johnson pins" and added a considerable amount to their class treasury through their hard work on this project.

They also chose their class rings and voted to have the initials "N.A." placed upon them instead of "Johnson", for they will be the first class to graduate from the new high school.

President Larry Corcoran chose the following to serve as members of the Prom committee in addition to the other class officers: Robert Kellan, Corinne Smith, and Francis Gillick. Joan Valliere was later added to their number.

FRESHMEN

This year the freshman class held its first election for class officers. They are as follows:

President	Robert Harris
Vice-President	Roberta Kay
Secretary-Treasurer	Rhoda Broderick

Judith Knightly and Adele Bullock were chosen as homeroom representatives from Room 12, and Dorothy Paradis and Richard Perry represented Room 10.

All the officers enjoyed a very fine year by the successful accomplishment of their various duties.

SOPHOMORES

The following is the slate of officers for the sophomore class:

President	James Norwood
Vice-President	Edward Snell
Secretary-Treasurer	Frances Broderick

Jim Norwood was the vice-president of his class last year and has done a fine job as president this year.

"Ted" Snell was elected to his first class office this year and proved a very able administrator.

Frances Broderick enjoyed her second successful term as class secretary-treasurer.

SENIORS

The following are the senior class officers:

President		Bruce Hamilton
Vice-President		Charles Turner
Secretary-Treasurer		Ann Bullock

Donald Slipp, a popular member of the senior class, served as president of the Johnson Chapter of the National Honor Society, and Beverlee Thomson was secretary-treasurer.

Three new senior girls were elected to the cheering squad this year: Ina Thomson, Kitty Driscoll and Nellie Moschetto.

Beverlee Thomson was chosen as the "Good Citizenship" representative and John Slipkowsky as the "Good Government Day" representative.

Members chosen by President Bruce Hamilton to serve on the Prom Committee besides the regular class officers included Kitty Driscoll, Carol Long, and Jack Slipkowsky. Susan Hearty, Beverlee Thomson, and Martha Cavallaro were later added to their number.

We Salute You!

Congratulations and the best of luck! We at Loring are proud of the part we have had in helping to make your classbook a permanent reminder of your school years, recording with photographs one of the happiest and most exciting times of your life! We hope that, just as you have chosen us as your class photographer, you will continue to think of Loring Studios when you want photographs to help you remember other momentous days to come! When you choose Loring portraits, you are sure of the finest craftsmanship at the most moderate prices!
